

Homeschool Teacher Job Description

Region: Haiti, 45 minutes outside of Cap Haitian

Location: New Roots Haiti Farm, Stolberg Family Home

Paid Position: This is NOT a paid position. The teacher will be expected to raise financial support. Flights to Haiti vary based on your departure city, but can be anywhere from $600-$900. You will also need to raise money for any food, recreation, health/medivac insurance, or salary you choose to take. We have 10 years experience fundraising and will help you with this any way we can.

You will be provided housing, shared with another single lady who is AWESOME. You will have a private room, but shared living space. With this all utilities will be covered.

Duration: October 2020-May 2021

Responsibilities: To teach our four children (5th, 3rd, and Preschool x2). The focus will be on the two older boys, while also working on preschool level learning with the two toddlers. Nikki, the Mom, will still teach History and financial intelligence, but the teacher will be responsible for all other subjects. We will provide all needed curriculum. This role will likely only take half or 3/4ths of your day, so you are also welcome (but not required) to work with some of our community programs, however, teaching our children is first priority.

Requirements: Bachelors degree in education strongly preferred, but if the applicant is referred from someone we trust as being amazing with children we will consider. Will require a background check.

Skills: Living cross culturally in a country like Haiti can be both rewarding but also difficult. An applicant needs to be very independent and self motivated. Able to change plans on the fly and adapt quickly. Have good stress management abilities. Experience traveling or working in a developing country a plus but not required.

Resumes can be sent to Nikki Stolberg (nikki@newrootshaiti.org). Position is open until filled.
